A Letter from Our CEO

In response to the changes happening in health care, in 2018 Families First, Goodwin Community Health and Lilac City Pediatrics took the significant leap of becoming a single organization in order to improve patient access, quality and financial sustainability. We are now Greater Seacoast Community Health. We did so while proudly serving about 20,000 of our friends and neighbors in need with affordable preventive health care and access to many family and public-health services. Our organization now has 300 employees dedicated to our newly created mission: Delivering innovative, compassionate, integrated health services and support that are accessible to all in our community, regardless of ability to pay.

In coming together as one staff, one board, and one patient community, we have also set a singular vision for our collective work and focus. We invite you to share in promoting our vision: To provide everyone in our community an opportunity to live a long and healthy life.

Creating a community where this dream can be realized, I believe, begins with small improvements made every day and bold steps made over time. Our mission and vision are all about creating access to better health for everyone. This requires having the right services, people and technology in place; anticipating rapidly evolving patient needs in an uncertain health care marketplace; and predicting tomorrow's public-health needs so we can deliver the access and outcomes for which people count on us.

We had many accomplishments in 2018. SOS Recovery Community Organization became the first Recovery Community Organization in the United States to receive an "exemplary" level of accreditation from the Council on Accreditation of Peer Recovery Support Services. Goodwin Community Health was named 2018 Large Non-Profit of the Year by the Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce, and Families First began expanding its renowned and much-loved Family Center programming into Strafford County. Greater Seacoast Community Health received a multi-year federal grant that will infuse $500,000 each year into our budget to help us combat opioid misuse. We are proud of these recognitions and program expansions.

The year 2018 tested our fortitude to embrace our organizational need for stability while adapting to an external health care landscape pressing for change. While we experienced a deficit in 2018, a surplus has been realized for the past three months thanks to the hard work of our board, leadership and staff. We are on a trajectory to thrive in turbulent times within the health care industry and to expand our ability to fulfill our mission for thousands of individuals and families who need us.

I am confident we are progressing in the right direction. I wish to express heartfelt gratitude to you, as part of an incredible community of supporters, partners, employees, volunteers, patients and other clients, for your continuous engagement and trust. Without you, fulfilling our mission and vision would not be possible.

Maryann's Story

When Maryann was about to open Shear Power hair salon in Somersworth some 20 years ago, she came to us to learn how self-employment would affect her insurance and health care finances. When her mother passed away, she came to us looking for guidance through her grief and found her counselor. As a survivor of cancer, Maryann has worked with her health care team at Goodwin to stay ahead of any potential health risks.

Goodwin has become a trusted resource for Maryann for whole health care, addressing her needs at many stages of life and in many aspects of health, from medical to behavioral to dental. "People need to know how much you offer, how many services you have," she says.

"It's nice to have one place to go for everything, a place where the staff know who I am and what I need."

Lucas's Story

Sixteen-year-old Lucas has a disease that causes progressive degeneration of muscles and strength, requiring him to rely on his single mother and his sister to access the bathroom at home. From the strain of lifting Lucas, his mother sustained injuries and had to have surgery and miss work.

Fortunately, the family participates in Partners in Health, which provides resources, advocacy and support to families of children living with a chronic health condition. Family Support Coordinator Gina Apgar worked with Lucas's family to raise $24,000 through grants and donations and collaborate with the contractor to build a bathroom that Lucas can access with very little help.

Lucas's Mom wrote: "Both the bathroom and Gina's dedication has changed our lives. As this awful disease progresses, everything gets harder for both Lucas and me. This bathroom will allow him to have almost total independence in this one part of his life and will ease the tremendous physical burden for me. I have never worked with someone like Gina, someone I felt truly had our backs."

"Having an accessible bathroom will truly change my life for the better because I will have the independence I've wanted. We are very grateful that you pushed this to happen."

An Eye on Quality

Greater Seacoast Community Health's clinical staff track hundreds of measures relating to quality of care and patient outcomes, benchmarking them against our past results and against our peer community health centers. For example, our protocol is to give every patient over age 12 a short depression screening annually and have our behavioral health team work with patients who screen positive to put a treatment plan in place. Of about 3,600 patients who screened positive for depression in 2018, three-quarters (74.55%) had a treatment plan in place. In 2017 (the most recent year for which data is available), we exceeded the national average, and the averages in New Hampshire and our three neighboring states, on this measure. We typically see this percentage increase every year.

Rich's Story

At age 60 and with no risk factors, Rich began having a tightness in his chest when he exerted himself. He thought he was just out of shape. When several heart and lung tests found nothing wrong, Rich was ready to accept the tightness as his new normal.

But his physician, Dr. Joann Buonomano, was not. "She said, 'I'm not comfortable with this' and had this look on her face," Rich says. She sent him to the hospital for a stress test, which led to discovery of a blockage, an attempt to place a stent that had to be abandoned and, finally, to open-heart surgery that Rich believes saved his life. "That's the value of knowing the patient and their eight different types of chest pain," says Dr. B.

"I thought, 'I must be just getting old and this is just what it is going to be like.' I was ready to say let's forget it. But Dr. B persisted. She took so much time and interest in looking at everything."

Fundraisers

The Banff Centre Mountain Film Festival takes the top films from its festival in Banff, Canada, and brings them to The Music Hall every March. Guests are captivated by breathtaking imagery and heart-pounding adventures. In 2018, the festival raised more than $38,000 for Greater Seacoast Community Health.

Runners and walkers of all ages celebrate fathers and father figures at our Father's Day 5K in Dover. In 2018 the race raised $44,000 to benefit our Seacoast neighbors. For more information or to register for this year's race, visit GoodwinCH.org.

Every year, artists throughout the Seacoast submit their work to be considered for a spot in our beautiful Artists of the Seacoast calendar. Since 1996, proceeds from sponsorships, donations and calendar sales have helped us provide comprehensive health and family services.

Looking Ahead

Children

At Lilac City Pediatrics we are introducing onsite behavioral health clinicians to expand access to integrate behavioral health in a pediatric setting. Our behavioral health clinicians are able to meet with children or families the same day the children are in for medical visits. They help children who are struggling with anxiety, depression, trauma, ADHD and other issues, sharing resources along with interventions that can decrease symptoms. This better allows pediatricians to focus on medical care and to support medication management for mental and/or physical diseases that impact mental health for children and families. We are pleased to be expanding our integrated model of care to our younger population at Lilac City Pediatrics.

Families

Our Family Center, which has provided home visiting, parent education, playgroups and support groups in the Portsmouth region for 30 years, is now expanding into Strafford County. Programming will begin with home visiting offered at no charge to struggling families, a new Family Morning Out program in Somersworth, and new parenting classes with free child care. In the first few months that these programs were offered in Somersworth, we saw 63 visits to parent groups, family programs and child care.

Partners

Goodwin Community Health and Community Partners, the agency that provides behavioral and developmental services in Strafford County, will launch an initiative funded by the U.S. Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration to integrate physical and behavioral health care. Services will be designed to improve the health and wellness of people ages 16 to 35 who have severe emotional disturbance and/or severe mental illness coupled with co-occurring physical health conditions. The partnership will allow for a seamless approach of offering behavioral health while simultaneously addressing co-occurring health problems, chronic diseases and/or substance misuse disorders. This important partnership will support the well-being and long-term prognosis of the individuals and help lower costs for the health care system in our county and state.

“Everyone is always helpful with my family. They take care of me and take my concerns seriously. It makes me feel safe.”
